All remaining rejections/objections follow.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 28 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-22 of U.S. Patent No. 6,890,989. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the scope of the claims overlap.

Claim 28 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-22 of U.S. Patent No. 6,403,706. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the water soluble polymer may be a combination of PEO and biodegradable polymers such as polyvinylalcohol, starches and HPC etc. as set out at column 4, lines 61-67 and as this portion of the patent specification supports the disclosure of "water soluble resins", the patent claims read upon the disclosure at column 4, lines 60-66 and the resins cited therein.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 28 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wang et al.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application.

Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

See column 4, lines 61-67 where the resin for grafting may include combinations of PEO and inherently biodegradable polymers such as HPC, polyvinylalcohol, and starch etc. Furthermore note the examples for grafting of combinations of PEO and carboxylated styrene-butadiene, a material which could reasonably be said to be biodegradable due to the known propensity of unsaturated backbone materials to undergo oxidative degradation. Note the first complete paragraph on page of the instant specification where it is disclosed that a man made polyester (polycaprolactone) is to be considered to be biodegradable as it is subject to hydrolysis and hence applicants definition of biodegradable appears to be broadly used and not limited to degradation by living organisms but merely degradable in the environment. Note also that polyamides, polyesters and polyoxazolines as set out at column 4, lines 60-66 would be viewed as degradable given that they are hydrolysable.
